

History 304 Resources for Students

Message from Mr. Altenburg

Hello to all the grade 9 history students. I hope this finds you and your families well. I will be putting together review activities each week to help to keep you up to date for when we return to school. It's important to know that these activities are completely voluntary and will not be marked. The physical and mental health of you and your family is the most important priority right now.

Student Resources for History 304

All of these resources are available to students online. If you have any problems accessing them or any other questions please contact me.

1. Course textbook: Reflections - Online Version

<https://www.iplusinteractif.com/books/172>

An online version of the textbook is available for free. No username or password is necessary.

2. Online Platform for Reflections

<https://cheneliere.ca/>

Each student registered for an account at the beginning of the year. The log in information is:

Username: the email address you used when you registered.

Password: the password you provided when you registered.

If you have trouble logging in please contact me.

Interactive Workshops: You can complete these at your own pace if you have access.

- They are in learning mode so you can use the online version of the text Reflections or the notes on this website to verify your answers.
- You can attempt each workshop as many times as you like.
- Each question has a hint tab that will direct you to the appropriate page in the textbook.

Note: some of the workshops are available on the online free version however to see all the workshops you must sign in to your own account.

3. My website for History 304: saltenburg.weebly.com

- All of the class notes are posted under each section of the course.
- So far we have completed the sections of First Occupants and New France.
